In this noble home, every family member feels free and comfortable at the same time, and guests want to return to the atmosphere of exquisite hospitality again and again. Part of the ground floor of the house is occupied by a recreational area, which includes a sauna with a shower and a gym. The second floor of the house is like an empire of relaxation: four large bedrooms wrap children and guests in their arms, and open balconies invite to greet sunsets or sunrises under the gentle rustle of foliage surrounded by the closest people. The awnings over the balconies are unobtrusively delicate, the ribs of the timber penetrating them give the simple geometry noble features and a feeling of comfort.
